

5th National Conference on Grazing Lands

Exhibitor and Sponsor Information

Join us for the 5th National Conference on Grazing Lands (5NCGL) at the Caribe Royale Hotel and Convention Center in Orlando, Florida, December 9-12, 2012. This conference brings together land managers from across the nation for education, technology advancements, and grazing land sustainability. Participants influence the management of grazing lands that comprise 73% of our nation's land base. The majority of the presentations will be made by successful livestock producers.

The 5NCGL will provide those attending an opportunity to gain the latest information in scientific and applied research, and practical, workable applications for building partnerships. We will concentrate on management methods that are successful in bridging agricultural needs with environmental and social benefits.

This is your opportunity to support an important national effort and promote your organization. Through your sponsorships, we provide funding for our producer who are making presenting. This year, we hope to support over 40 producer-speakers.

Sponsors will be recognized on conference signage throughout the host venue and on our online registration website. Conference activities are centralized around the trade show location to provide maximum exposure.

Join us and become a partner in grazing land conservation.
